Moon Transits

Tracking the Moon

Every time the Moon is in a particular sign, it will always be in the same house in your transits, highlighting those themes. If Gemini rules your 10th house, the Moon in Gemini will always influence your career or feelings regarding your accomplishments.

Moon Transits

The Moon changing every 2-3 days has a huge impact on our daily life. The Sun’s 30-day orbit is more thematic to the outer energy we may face or experience during a zodiacal season. However, the Moon is far more complex, especially when there are different Moon cycles.

Moon transiting the 1st house

Speaking up for how situations affect you is more likely. You are more in touch with how your emotions need to be expressed as an extension of yourself. This is where the person who is usually more reserved feels compelled to speak up for what has been bothering them or what excites them. You'll be more confident in asserting yourself on an emotional level at this time. People will also more easily see you as responsive to your needs.

Moon transiting the 2nd house

You are more aware of your value at this time and focused on what situations make you feel comfortable. You also feel more compelled to claim what is yours and may also be relatively protective during this transit. Invest in what you care about at this time and take care of what belongs to you. Activities that help with feelings of self-value are also important if you struggle with understanding your worth.

Moon transiting the 3rd house

Information can cause you to be more curious or more sensitive to the type of information you receive. Having good communication with those in your immediate environment is suggested. Depending on the sign, some may be more communicative and others more private with information during this transit.

Moon transiting the

4th house

Family matters or emotional issues are heightened. You feel closer to what is familiar or rooted in your past. You feel more influenced emotionally during this time. Nostalgia is enhanced. Confronting emotional issues can be good or bad depending on what you are feeling. You also may feel protective over others emotionally at this moment. Example: The person who notices that they are more prone to visit their sick grandmother during this time. It is difficult for them, but they feel a sense of emotional obligation.

Moon transiting the

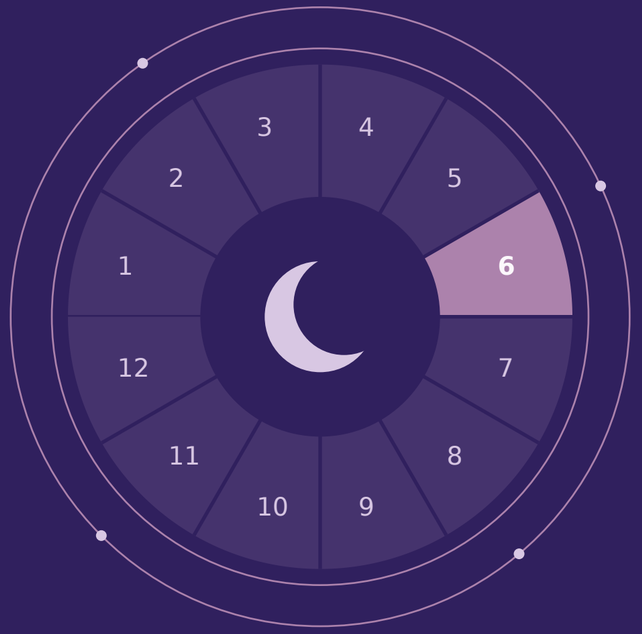

5th house

You may feel a burst of creative excitement during this time. Doing something that makes you feel happy without any gain attached is helpful in allowing yourself a sense of joy. Connection to children or fun activities is more optimal. Some people may enjoy working on personal projects or tending to domestic projects. Others feel a need to connect to loved ones in more engaging ways. Example: A woman has been trying to have a girls' night in and finally schedules it on a day that the Moon transits her when she is the most emotionally invested in fun with close friends.

Moon transiting the

6th house

The need to do things that are meaningful is important at this time. You may feel more connected to self-improvement at this time and have a more concentrated sense of responsibility. You are more sensitive to the needs of your daily life and also may feel a need to help those around you in more meaningful ways.

Moon transiting the

8th house

Psychological awareness of your emotions is more optimal at this time. This is also a great period for internalization and taking better care of your emotional health. You prefer deeper connections over superficial ones, especially if this conjuncts any planets. Finding answers deeper within is best during this time.

Moon transiting the

9th house

You may feel more personally attached to your beliefs and more sensitive to criticisms of your truth. You have more of an inclination to want and desire new experiences. You may feel more of a longing for adventure and make decisions based on a need for fulfillment. Using your inner knowledge becomes important as well.

Moon transiting the

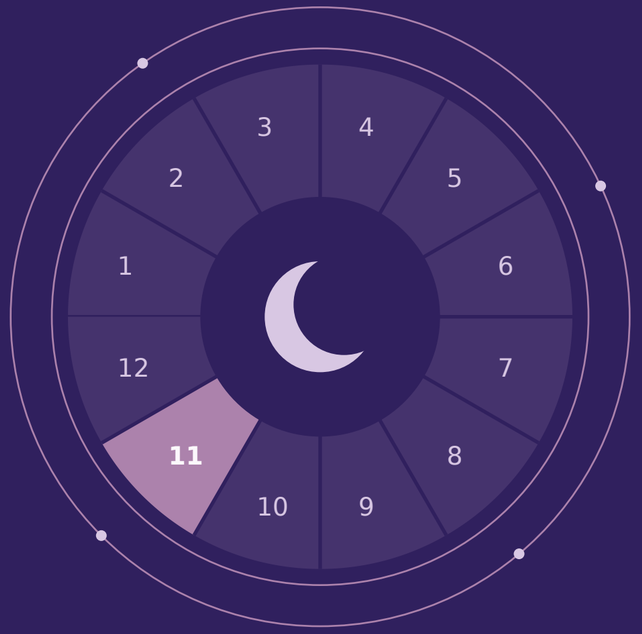

10th house

Your emotions are calibrated to be sensitive to situations which deal with authority, goals, or ambition. If the Moon is positively aspected, you may feel more satisfied with the direction of your career and opportunities that come your way.

Moon transiting the

11th house

You are more invested in feeling accepted by others at this time. You feel a greater connection to the larger society or groups. People are more likely to join organizations or outings when the Moon transits this house because it highlights the inner need inside us all to belong.

Moon transiting the

12th house

You may feel more inclined to feel beneath what is physically in front of you. You unconsciously begin to do things that are best for you from a spiritual perspective. This is a great period to reflect and self-isolate in order to gather your true feelings undisturbed. For a very sensitive person, this transit can be unsettling as it ramps up feelings of compassion and empathy.

Transiting Moon Sign Guiding Questions

Aries	Where are you feeling restless in your spirit?
Taurus	Where are you finding contentment or feeling a need to be stationary?
Gemini	What is your inner dialogue? Are you sorting through feelings by welcoming new information?
Cancer	Are you remaining loyal to what is yours to preserve, take care of, and see through?
Leo	In which areas do you feel a sense of inner creativity or seek more acknowledgment?
Virgo	Are you examining your feelings towards things before making decisions or conclusions?
Libra	Do you need there to be peace or resolution on a matter?
Scorpio	Are you fixated on whatever the current mood or feeling is?
Sagittarius	Are you optimistic, maybe a bit impulsive, but internally stirred for adventure?
Capricorn	Are you steady and conservative regarding how you choose to manage and express your feelings at the moment?
Aquarius	Are you aware of how what you feel may be impacted by external stimuli and others, viewing feelings as a place of logic?
Pisces	Are you internally motivated by what drives and inspires you, with profound sensitivity and receptivity?